ACNESATED/PRESSECTION

The inquest into the death of Mary Don nelly, the cook, who was sufficiented in the fire at the Hospital for the Ruptured and Crippled on Sunday, Jan. 29, was hald yesterday morn-ing by Coroner Nugent. Little May Wilson, who confessed to Fire Marshal Sheidon that she started that fire and the others that ocsurred about the same time at the hospital, Superintendent Jenkins of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, but she was not put on the stand nor was she allowed to hear the testimony. She sat in the front office present. Superintendent Jenkins said the child was very nervous and it might do her the child was very nervous and it might do her great injury to let her know even what she was brought down for.

The witnesses called were Assistant Surgeon Clarence Irving, Dr. J. H. Billings, Mary Armstrong, a watter: Annie Beynolds, a chambermaid in the boys' hall; Johanna Burke, a night nurse; Policeman Cavanagh, and Superintendent Jenkins, The sworm statements of Ohief Surgeon Virgil P. Gibney and John Sattler, foreman of Hook and Ladder Company 2, were read.

Chief Surgeon Virgil P. Gibney and John Sattler, foreman of Hook and Ladder Company 2, were read.

None of the witnesses had seen Mary Donnelly for six hours previous to the fire, which occurred at 5:45 in the evening, nor did they know where she was until she was found dead in a bedroom on the third floor. Dr. Billings, the first witness, said that he was at the hospital at the time of the fire, and a fireman directed him to the room on the second floor, where they had stretched the suffocated woman on a table. He thought life was still in her when he first saw her, and he worked over her until the other doctors joined him. They agreed that she met her death by asphyxiation. Mary Armstrong and the other women servants testified that they did not personally see May lighting matches, and didn't think she would do such a thing. They said the little girl had a very kindly and lovable disposition. Superintendent Jenkins said that since May had been with him matches had been constantly where she could get them, she being watched without her knowledge, but she had never touched them.

"When I spoke to her this morning," said Mr. Jenkins, "about death having occurred in connection with the lire, she was very sorry. She did say she liked to see matches burn, but that she would never touched them.

"When I spoke to her this morning," said Mr. Jenkins, "about death having occurred in connection with the lire, she was very sorry. She did say she liked to see matches burn, but that she would never touched them.

"Onnection with the lire, she was very sorry. She did say she liked to see matches burn, but that she would never touched them.

"On the region in the lead, the she had never touched them."

"On the see in the lead, the she would go back to the head, I don't think she should go back to the hospital. She has been there too long already."

Coroner Nugent stated the facts to the jury, and said there didn't appear to be any proof as to how the fire started. The jury fell to consulting among themselves, and one of them remarked:

"The only thing I can see is that the girl was made a slave of, and the superintendent of that hospital ought to be brought to account."

They agreed upon the verdict that Mary Donnelly came to her death by asphyxiation from the smoke of the fire, but they were unable to determine from the evidence how the fire originated.

Superintendent Jenkins said that May would probably stay with him for several days, until Justice Murray, who committed her to his charge, gave further directions.

THE STEAMBOAT INSPECTORS. The Pilots Attempting to Sustain their Charges of Partiality.

The special committee of Supervising Inspectors of Steam Vessels yesterday resumed its investigation of the management of the localInspectors, Fairchild and Marsland. Thomas Magner, President of St. Francis College, testified that Richard J. Moran was a student in the college for several years prior to The object of this was to discredit the assertion that the boy had ten years' experience, made in the application for a license. On cross-examination the witness stated that young Moran was very irregular in his attendhardly more than a nominal student. When hardly more than a nominal student. When witness sent for him word was returned that he was on his father's boat.

Father Lane, pastor of the Church of the Visitation, South Brooklyn, who has held the post for six or seven years, said he couldn't speak for the church records before that time, but there were records. He explained that during the latter years of Father Farrell's time, the old man being feeble, the records were imperfectly kept. They were afterward copied into a new book, and Father Lane had found one error. There might have been a mistake in the case of this boy's record. His father says the boy is 21.

one error. There might have been a mistake in the case of this boy's record. His father says the boy is 21.

Capt. F. W. Yosburgh, of the Schuyler Towing Line, said that he recommended young Moran as a pupil of Capt. Cahill, captain of the Yosburgh, one of the best boatmen in New York harbor." Witness had often seen the young man steering the Yosburgh.

Capt. Henry Halpin, one of the committee of the Brotherhood of Pilots, said the committee visited the office Nov. 30, and asked to see the papers in the case of Moran, saving they understood he was a minor. Capt. Fairchild showed the papers, and said the young man passed a very creditable examination. He said he had told Moran he was a young-looking man to be 21 years old. Witness said the papers now shown were not the same he had then seen. A memorandum as to the young man's age was lacking, and there were two signatures of Loring Gross where there had been only one.

tures of Loring Gress where there had been only one.

Loring H. Gross, the twice-subscribed endorser of young Moran's application, said the first signature was not his—the second was. He gave Capt. Cabill authority to sign his name in the first place. He would have signed young Moran's application himself. Moran had worked under him at the wheel before he got his license.

THE SUICIDE ON THE ELEVATED ROAD. He is Identified as Thomas Warren and His Act was Due to Iliness.

The man who committed suicide yesterday morning at the Forty-second street down-town station of the Third Avenue Elevated Railroad by placing himself on the track and letting a motor run over him has been identified. He was Thomas Warren, a retired fancy goods dealer, who lived at Newtown, Long Island. Ho was living with his family at the Baltimore flats, 188 East Fortieth street, where for several years he was accustomed to pass the win He was an invalid for several years with

ter. He was an invalid for several years with sciatica, and for two or three days of the past week had been confined to his bed.

On Tuesday morning he started down town to complete the purchase of a piece of property. His family think that his mind must have been dazed by physical pain and feebleness, and that in this condition he stopped on the track without comprehending what he was doing. They suppose that when he saw the train moving down upon him that he realized his position, and that he lay down upon the track to meet the death he could not escape.

Mr. Warren was a man of methodical habits, and when he falled to return home at his usual hour the family became alarmed. Yesterday movining Mr. C. C. Nadal of 214 Broadway read the account of the suicide, and going to the Morgue identified the body of his friend. Mr. Warren was well to do financially, and his domestic relations, his friends say, were of the happlest nature. No cause for his netion can be assigned but temporary aberration due to his lilness. He was about 65 years of age, and leaves a widow and several children. Two of his sons are married, one being a physician and the other in the insurance business.

A Lively Fire Promptly Pat Out.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last night R. E. Emiston, a bookkeeper for the Campbell Printing Press Company at 160 William street, saw smoke coming from the third-story window of the building, and a policeman who saw the smoke at the same time sent out an alarm. Before the engines had got fairly to work the three upper floors of the building were like a three upper floors of the building were like a roaring furnace. Flames shot out of all the windows, and the marble front of the building began to chip. A third alarm was sent out, and fifteen minutes after the engines had got to work they had drowned the fire out.

The three upper floors were completely burned out. Mook Bros. & Co., steam printers and binders, occupied the third and fourth floors. They are the principal losers, and $10,000 will cover the damage to their stock. The Campbell Printing Press and Manufacturing Company occupied the rest of the five-story building and will lose shout $5,000. The building is owned by Benjamin H. Field and is damaged $3,000.

The Claim of John Boach's Heirs,

In regard to the statement that John Roach's heirs had brought suit against the Government for $2,500,000 for additional expense to them in connection with changes in the original plans of the Chicago, Atlanta, and Boston, a gentleman who assumed to know something about the matter said vesterday:

"The last is that the heirs of John Boach have proceedings a claim against the Government for $30,000 damages only. Just after the Atlanta struck on the rocks in Narragansett Bay, and struck on the rocks in Narragansett Bay, and struck on the rocks in Narragansett Bay and struck on the rocks in Narragansett Bay and struck on the roses! was taken into dry dock last week, they had a New York surveyor examine the Rull of the vessel, and his testimony will be used in urging the claim.

A JURY EXONERATES MAY WILSON, STABBED HIMSELF WITH HIS SURARS.

Thomas S. Shaw, an expert hat finisher, who used to be Vice-President of the Hat Finishers' Union, drank some beer with his forty fellow workmen in Miller & Evans's hat factory at 67 Prince street yesterday noon, and then left the workshop, taking his 10-inch hat shears with him. A few minutes later the men heard him groaning in a closet in the hallway, and. bursting it open, found him in a half conscious condition, with blood flowing from three ugly wounds in his left breast. His shears lay be-side him with the blades stained with blood. He had wound some twine around the handles,

He had wound some twine around the handles, to get a firmer grip on them, and plunged them into his body four or five inches. He failed to reach a vital part.

Mr. Miller, the head of the firm who had employed Shaw at various times during the last thirty years, held the workman's head in his lap and tried to get him to tell why be had tried to kill himself. All he could get from him was that he was sick and discouraged. Shaw, who is 35 years old, fell and hurt his ankie badly three weeks ago, and had not been able to work more than four days in the last fortnight. On Tuesday a hat he had finished was returned to him as an imperfect piece of workmanship. This occurrence annoyed him greatly. He was removed to St. Vincent Hospital in an ambulance, and the doctors found that his injuries were dangerous. His mind seemed aftected also. He refused to talk about his attempt to kill himself, and told the Sisters at the hospital that he had no home. This, however, was not true, for he has both a home and a wife at 88 Suydam street, Brookiyn, where his wife keeps a small store. His friends could assign no reason for his attempt at sulcide but discouragement at the fact that he hadn't been able to earn more than $7 in the last two weeks. Shaw is a Grand Army man, and fought in the war with the First Regiment of New York Volunteers. In his younger days he was an actor.

Two policement were on guard at the bedside. New York Youtheers. In his younger days he was an actor.

Two policemen were on guard at the bedside in the hospital. He was arrested as soon as the police were called in by the foreman of the shop. Shaw didn't want any word to be sent to his wife.

THE JURY ACQUITTED HIM.

The Prisoner had Already Been Cut, Beater and Locked Up for 75 Days,

George Mason, colored, was arraigned before Judge Cowing, in the Court of General dons, yesterday, charged with assault with a knife on Horatio Lewis, colored, last summer at Shaft 21, on the new aqueduct, where both were employed as miners. The defendant only was cut with the knife. He received a sinsh across the hand that laid him up in the hospital. He also got a beating from the complainant Lewis, and he has been locked up in the Tombs for nearly three months. Lewi the Tombs for nearly three months. Lowes testified that Mason was spoiling to fight, and that he took an open knife from his pocket, and threatened to cut the witness's heart out. Judge Cowing—The question is, who struck the first blow?

Lewis—I struck de fust blow, yo' Honah. I see he wos goin' to strike me wid de knife.

John Cotter, colored, testified that he saw the fight.

John Cotter, colored, testified that he saw the fight.
Judge Cowing—Who struck the first blow? Cotter—I couldn't 'zackly tell, yo' Honah.
Judge Cowing—It was a dark night and the fighters were dark, and altogether it was such a dark transaction that you couldn't see what did happen? [Laughter.]
Cotter-M-m-m. Dat's zackly de troof, yo Honah. Honah.

Judge Cowing—The defendant seems to have got the worst of the encounter, he was cut and has been in jail for seventy-three days. The jury may acquit the defendant.

The jury acquitted.

BACK NUMBER BUDD'S TRIAL

He Says That he Shot Janitor Brown Through the Hand by Accident.

"Back Number" Budd, colored, who has earned fame as a purveyor of back numbers of newspapers and magazines, was arraigned before Judge Cowing in the General Sessions yes terday charged with assault in shooting in the and James Brown, colored, the janitor of the flat at 246 West Forty-seventh street, where Budd lived, on July 5 last. Budd found fault with the janitor for locking him out on the previous night, and the men exchanged hot words. Budd shot Erown terough the hand.

Budd testified that he had been kept at his place of business until 3 A. M. on July 4. His wife was sick and he was locked out by the janitor. He had but one hour to rest, and Brown kept up 3 racket by stamping up and down the corridor outside of his door, threatening to "do him up" when he came out. At 5 o'clock the witness on going down stairs to work found Brown with a "longshoreman's hook in his hand. The witness preiended that he was going to strike Brown, and Brown started back two or three feet. Then the witness dedged past Brown, and stumbling, fell into the gutter. Brown followed him and struck him with the hook. Then the witness struggled with Brown, and in the struggle the revolver was discharged accidentally.

The case is still on. Budd lived, on July 5 last. Budd found fault

James Farrell of Newark avenue, Jersey

City, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Martine, in the General Sessions, charged with grand larceny in stealing $350 from the till in Robert Hackenies's saloon, at 65 Columbia street, on Dec. 19 last, Ex-Assistant District Attorney Ambrose H. Purdy appeared as coun-sel for Farrell. It was Mr. Purdy's first apsel for Farrell. It was Mr. Purdy's first appearance at a trial in the General Sessions since he was associated with District Attorney Martine. Judge Martine welcomed Mr. Purdy from the bench, and said that he hoped he would be successful in defending accused people. Mr. Furdy thanked Judge Martine, and the case proceeded.

Saloon Keeper Hackonjos testified that Farrell visited his saloon on Dec. 19, 1857, and said that he was an inspector of Croton waterworks, and that he called the witness to the street to look at the pipe leading to the saloon from the water main. Returning to his saloon, the witness found that he had been robbed of all the money in his till, 3359.

Farrell was not an inspector, and was not connected with the Croton water works. Mr. Purdy's client was convicted. Farrell was remanded for sentence.

The Reed upon which Dan Lyons Leans, Affidavita were filed yesterday by Lawyers Blake and Sullivan, in the District Attorney's office, in the application of Daniel Lyons for a new trial for the murder of Athlete Joseph Quinn. The affidavits show that Jose naidi, the barber at the Tombs when Lyons was locked up after his capture, declares that in shaving Lyons he found a sore on Lyons's chin. This is to show that Quinn struck Lyons first, and that Lyons, in defending himself, shot Quinn. Lyons said to Rinaidi at that time that Quinn made the wound by hitting him. Another affloavid declares that Joseph L. Riley, a nickle plater of 231 West Twenty-seventh street, saw Lyons running away after shooting Quinn, and that Riley saw Lyons holding a handkerchief to his chin, and that there was blood on the handkerchief. This testimony, with that of two young women, who make cath that they saw Quinn strike Lyons just before Quinn was shot, is all that Lawyers Sullivan and Blake will offer to get a retrial for Lyons on the ground of recently discovered evidence. The motion will be argued to-day before Judge Martine in the General Sessions. naidi, the barber at the Tombs when Lyons

Knights of Labor After Mr. Salomon. Master Workman William E. McDermitt of District Assembly 51 K. of L. of Newark has written a letter to County Physician Hewlet demanding an inquest in the case of Edward Mueller, who was killed in an elevator accident at R. G. Salomon's tannery on Friday last. Mr. McDermitt said; "The men employed in that factory are scabs and reality our enemies, but we want this investigation simply in the cause of humanity."

we want this investigation simply in the cause of humanity."

The power to call inquests rests with Dr. Hewlett, and he uses his own judgment about calling them in ordinary cases. Salomon's tannery has been a bone of contention in labor circles for more than a year, and it is said that the Knights of Labor desire to give the owner all the trouble they can because he defeated them at the time of the strike in his shop, and because they blame him for a large share of their defeat by the Leather Manufacturers' Association.

THE GREAT WALKING MATCH

What An Eminent Authority on Pedestrianism Believes.

How Great Vigorand Power of Endur Is Secured-Hints It Would Be Well for the Wesk and Prestrated to Follow.

Mr. Harry Brooks, who as ex-Champion Pedestrian has a most excellent record, and who has vast experience con-cerning walkers from having been manager of most of the great pedestrian contests which have taken place in this country, is most emisently fitted to give advice as well as use his keen and unerring judgment in regard to the relative qualities of the contestants in the present well as use his seen and unerring judgment in the present great rane.

When Mr. Brooks entered the Madison Square Garden the other night he was greeted on all sides by his triends with such questions as these: "Why. Harry, how comes this? We thought you were dead! When we last saw you in Fhiladelphia a year ago you were a skeleton. Now you are a giant, strong and vigorous as a llon. What is the cause!" The popular manager acknowledged that a year ago he had been a more skeleton, broken down in his nervous and physical health, while now he weighed 177 pounds and was in perfect health.

Of course all were eager to know what wonder had wrought the marvellous change, and were informed that his really remarkable restoration to health and streagth was due entirely to that most wonderful remedy. Dr. Greene's Nervura Nerve Tonic. "I am," he said, "a living proof of the remarkable restoration and strengthgiving powers of this wonderful remedy. It is the best tonic and invigorator in the world, and therefore the greatest restorer of health."

But there is another thing which Mr. Brocks well greatest restorer of health."

But there is another thing which Mr. Brocks well knows, and that is that this remedy, which is for sale by all druggists at $1 per bottle, is the best preserver of strength, and will give to those who use it great power strength, and will give to those who use it great power of endurance either for mental or physical work; he is conversant with the fact that one of the ingredients of this remedy is used in its native country by the inhabitants for purposes of giving the greatest degree of strength and power of endurance, and that those same natives have so great a reverence for this remedy that they call it the "Divine Plant" from its wonderful restorative and invigorating powers.

Knowing this, and knowing, too, that several of the sading conjugatant in the urganit great race are in conleading contestants in the present great race are in con-stant use of this remedy both while on the track and during their resta, he is well able to make up his mind as

It is certainly a fact to which thousands of sufferers tify, that this great discovery is to-day curing more cases of disease than any other known remedy, and from its truly marvellous beneficial effects, we do not wonder that Mr. Brooks so heartily and enthusiastically recommends it to all who complain of sickness, weak

Suicide Did Not Spot! His Insurance Policy. The suit of Mrs. Henrietta P. Sergeant against the Home Benefit Association of New York was finished in the United States Circuit Court yesterday. Mrs. Sergeant is the sister of Edward F. Hall, Jr., the banker who was in business during 1886 at 41 Wall street, and who shot himself in his apartments at 137 East Twenty-third street on the morning of Oct. 16 of that year. Hall while in San Francisco in 1885 took a $5,000 life policy in the Home Bene-fit Association, which he assigned to Mrs. Sergeant as security for a loan made by her. She held the policy at the time the broker died, and forwarded a demand for the money from her home at West Medford, Mass. The company refused to pay on the ground that the policy distinctly stated that if the holder died by his own hand the policy could not be collected. Mrs. Sergeant contended that her brother was made insane by business troubles and physical suffering.

Deputy Coroner Jenkins, who made the post-mortem upon Hall's body, testified that the Coroner's jury acquitted Hall of any responsibility for his death.

The jury awarded Mrs. Sergeant $5,248, the full amount claimed.
